What President said:

■ President Ram Nath Kovind on Friday while addressing a joint sitting of Parliament at the start of Budget Session said:

■ "The maturity displayed by the countrymen after the Supreme Court's verdict on Ram Janmabhoomi is also laudable. My government is of the firm view that mutual discussions and debates strengthen democracy. At the same time, any kind of violence in the name of protests weakens the society and the nation

■ In a democracy, nothing is more sacred than the mandate given by the people. The people of the country have given this mandate to my government for the making of a new India

■ Through this House, I heartily congratulate the people of Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh for joining the mainstream of development

■ Today, after seven decades, the whole country is happy that the dream of crores of freedom fighters, including (Shyama Prasad)Mookerjee, has come true and the people of Jammu and Kashmir, and Ladakh, Dalits and women from that area have also got the same rights as the people in the rest of the country

■ It is the responsibility of all of us to bring the atrocities being committed in Pakistan to the notice of the global community"

■ Contrary to the speech in June last year, the President's Address skipped any reference to National Register of Citizens.
