Netas suffer test stress

With many MPs testing positive for Covid-19 ahead of the Parliament session scheduled to begin Monday, legislators in Karnataka too seem a little nervous. All legislators, officers, journalists attending the legislative assembly session in Karnataka have to undergo mandatory Covid tests from September 18, which is giving our netas quite some stress. More than 50 legislators in Karnataka have tested positive for the virus so far, and many have chosen to keep it under wraps for various reasons, including social stigma. With mandatory testing, they are now worried that their absence from the session many give away their terrible secret...
