Health cards, khatas set to be home-delivered in B'luru

Citizens Can Order 53 Govt Services Soon

TIMES NEWS NETWORK

Bengaluru: Health cards, revenue khatas and marriage registration certificate are among the 53 services which will be delivered to citizens' doorsteps in Bengaluru if the Karnataka government's plan takes shape.

A cabinet meeting on Tuesday approved the doorstep-delivery scheme and launched a website — www.janasevaka.karnataka.gov.in — through which citizens can order services. A request could be made on phone too.

The Yediyurappa government is the second dispensing after that of Bupendra

HOW IT WORKS

> Visit www.janasevaka.karnataka.gov.in or Karnataka Mobile One app or call 08044554455, and place service request

> Executive explains details, documents required and the cost of service

> Govt-appointed Jan Sevak will visit citizen's home, collect delivery fee of Rs 115 and actual services fee

> She will scan documents on tab, fill the form and upload it on website

> Citizen will receive acknowledgment via text message

> After documentation is processed, service will be delivered at home

PHASE 1 COVERS 4 ASSEMBLY SEGMENTS

AAP government in Delhi.

The project's pilot is under implementation in T Dasarahalli assembly constituency, and will be extended to three more — Bommanahalli, Rajajinagar and Mahadevapura — as part of the first phase. In the next, the services will be extended to all 27 assembly segments in Bengaluru.

a service request. A Jan Sevak (or a delivery executive) is assigned for the task. He will go to the citizen's residence and collect documents required for the service. E-governance minister S Suresh Kumar said, "Once the request is processed, the Jan Sevak will contact the citizen and deliver the document on card or a mutual-aid card." The service

The government is looking at delivering transport documents like DL, and cards issued by the food and civil supplies department, among others.

The delivery executive will carry an identity card issued by the e-governance department, a tablet, a thermal printer and a biometric scanner. At present, every ward in Bengaluru will be covered.
