Congress questions BSY
govt, stages walkout

Congress members attended the assembly session wearing black badges and staged a walkout during the tabling of the budget, alleging that the BJP government had no moral right to continue. "These ministers had taken an oath stating that they would discharge their duties without any fear or favour. When they have gone to court out of fear, what moral right do they have to continue in power? Chief minister BS Yediyurappa and mines and geology minister Muruges Nireni are out on bail in a land case. This government has no moral right to remain in power," claimed Siddaramaiah, the opposition leader in the assembly.

He alleged that some ministers' decision to obtain an injunction against publication or airing of damaging material against them in the wake of the Ramesh Jarkiholi controversy was an attack on press freedom. Yediyurappa slammed the Congress behaviour: "What right does he have to speak about it? Has there been any instance of the opposition walking out of a budget presentation?"
