'SPEAKER IS MASTER OF PROCEEDINGS'

Congress lawyer Abhishek Manu Singhvi
on the SC verdict on Karnataka's rebels

- We have emerged victorious. 90% of the case argued says the Speaker should decide in x number of days. Honourable court says we should not fetter the Speaker in any case.
- The SC has said the Speaker can decide what he likes, when he likes and hence, the Speaker will decide. Where is the question of acting on a whip which has not been issued yet...
- If more people resign, the government should go, that's how democracy works. There's been a misinformation campaign the last couple of weeks. Speaker will now be the master of the proceedings. He will decide as per his discretion.
