NEW DELHI, DHNS: All set for a first-of-its-kind sitting of Parliament during the Covid-19 pandemic, Rajya Sabha Chairman M Venkaiah Naidu on Thursday held a mock sitting of the Upper House with the help of the officers posing as MPs.

The new seating arrangement to ensure physical distancing norms will require the Chairman to keep a close eye on six different locations from where the MPs will be participating in the proceedings, officials said.

Officials of the Rajya Sabha were made to sit in the chambers of both the Houses and the galleries for the mock proceedings during which Naidu examined various elements of the proceedings, including the MPs seeking to raise various issues from different locations.
